Poachers of the salish sea. Biomechanics of a fish’s heavy body armor.
By: Dr. Sebastian Kruppert (Summers Lab)

What skills do biology majors need for success in modern careers? Using a collaborative approach to define the essential set
By: Dr. Alexa Clemmons (Crowe Lab)

An emerging learning progression characterizing how students use mass balance reasoning to understand physiology
By: Dr. Emily Scott (Doherty-Wenderoth Lab)

Role of tactile sensing in insect-plant pollination interaction
By: Dr. Tanvi Deora (Brunton-Daniel Lab)

Full abstract information posted on the UW Bio Website under Seminars.
Hosted by: Caroline Stromberg